Central Library Houses Large Kraken in First Floor Water Fountain

Customers and staff love library's new pet despite its tendency to overturn boats

By World's Editorial Writers Mar 19, 2017 0

Save the Krakens

The new library pet, Pete the Kraken, is pictured above saving the library from pirates that had decided to storm the first floor fountain.

The screenshot shows the Creative Commons search prototype. At the top, there's a navigation bar with the Creative Commons logo, a search bar containing the text 'p', and buttons for 'GO' and 'Sign in'. To the right are links for 'CC Search' and 'About'. Below the navigation is the main search interface. It features the 'cc' logo followed by the word 'search'. A search input field contains the letter 'p'. To the right of the input field is a blue 'GO' button. Below the search bar is a descriptive text: 'Use this prototype to find images that you can use and remix across several open archives. Give us your feedback to help us design a front door to the commons.' On the left side, there's a 'Filters' section with options like 'FIND IMAGES I CAN...', 'SEARCH WITHIN:', and 'RESULTS PER PAGE:'. On the right side, there's a 'SEARCH FROM THESE COLLECTIONS:' section with checkboxes for various sources like 'Photographs', '500px', 'Flickr', 'Cultural works', 'Europeana', 'Metropolitan Museum of Art', 'New York Public Library', and 'Rijksmuseum'. In the bottom right corner of the screenshot area, there's a small blue box labeled 'Feedback'.

Katlin Seagraves is a Digital Literacy Associate at Central Library in the Tulsa City-County Library system. She runs the Digital Literacy Lab, a digital learning center, and facilitates technology programming for all ages – including web literacy and coding. She organizes Django Girls Tulsa and Railsbridge Tulsa and is a volunteer with Techlahoma, a non-profit that works to engage tech talent in Oklahoma and bring free, high-tech programs to Oklahomans. She is the National Director of Administration for Alpha Sigma Kappa – Women in Technical Studies, an organization that empowers and supports collegiate women in STEM majors and women in STEM fields.

Now, let's get down to business.
